

Music by the Green – 14th May 2017

1:00 p.m. St John's and St Clement's School Violin Players

St John's and St Clement's school violins play using the Suzuki method: players at all levels learn the same repertoire and practice and perform regularly together as a group. Today they will play a variety of pieces to showcase players at all levels. You might just recognise some of the tunes!

1:20 p.m. John Webber

Organ classics brought to life by St. John's Director of Music. Enjoy rousing pieces by Camille Saint-Saëns and Nicolas Jacques Lemmens.

1:30 p.m. Talbot Trio

This talented strings' trio will play classical music by Haydn, in a series of contrasting movements which will by turn delight and quieten the soul.

1:55 p.m. Koruso

Vibrant community choir Koruso will be singing a range of popular and traditional music, from "Ain't Misbehavin" to the "Chorus of the Pirates". Koruso perform music which bridges cultures and unites people in Southwark and beyond. Come and be wowed!

2:20 p.m. Seamus and Sian

Delight in the always entertaining piano duets and solos brought to us by this popular local pairing. Composers included are Mozart, Chopin, Gershwin and Charles Mingus.

2:45 p.m. The Elm Singers

The Elm Singers' beautiful renditions of English madrigals, Victorian and Edwardian part songs, sacred pieces and folk songs will transport us to back to the pastoral times of Goose Green.

3:15 p.m. St. John's Strings

String players from St. John's continue our afternoon of musical enjoyment with well-known tunes including Pachelbel's Canon (in D).

3:30 p.m. The Elm Singers

More from this fantastic choir.
